That Golden
Moment

Victory is in the grasp of Glenn Verrette as the All-Scholastic Golden Warrior clutches pass from Bill Alexander in the end zone in the closing seconds of Saturday's Super Bowl win at Nickerson Field in Boston, giving Andover High its second straight Division II state championship. Verrette was named by his teammates as the Most Valuable Player and received the Eugene V. Lovely award at an assembly Wednesday night. Story on Page 56. Super Bowl coverage begins on Page 16.

Sullivan Won't Be Candidate

Selectman Edmund J. Sullivan, Jr., announced this week that he will not seek re-election at the annual town election in March.

Sullivan, completing a three-year term on the board, said that personal business would not permit him the time to devote to his municipal office which he has enjoyed and had desired to seek the opportunity to continue to be of service.

His announcement is expected to produce added interest in the annual municipal elections, since it will create two vacancies on the board of selectmen. Selectman George E. Heseltine announced earlier that he would not seek re-election.

Coupled with the usual interest in school committee races, the dual vacancy on the town's chief policy making board could produce added interest in the election which, this year, will be on March 22, rather than the first Monday as in previous years.

As for the school committee, David Ahouse has indicated he is almost sure of seeking a full term on the board, while Committeeman Robert B. McIntyre is unsure at the moment about his candidacy.

Sullivan, elected in 1973 during the height of the Hewlett-Packard discussions, has served as the town's representative to the Greater Lawrence Solid Waste planning committee, which is developing plans for a solid waste plant in the Haverhill area.

In his announcement to the TOWNSMAN this week, Sullivan said that he regretted the decision, since he had enjoyed working with the board members and for the community.

"It's been a good, hard working

Factfinder Hears Contract Concerns

The Andover School Committee and Andover teachers presented their respective cases Tuesday, in the third, fact-finding stage of negotiations.

While they requested that he make his report before Christmas, Factfinder David Bloodworth said his report will likely be made after the holidays.

When that report is made, the two groups will go back to negotiations in hopes of settling the contract dispute that has been going on for more than a year.

The main issues of concern discussed Tuesday were salaries, "just cause," non-teaching duties, responsibilities of principals, effective agreement, and department chairmen stipends.

What makes this stage different from arbitration, is that the report will be made in writing and be a matter of public record.

Salaries still remain the major stumbling block, with the school committee's last official offer a six percent increase across the board for the current school year and again for 1976-

Environmental Quality Group Examines Issues

By Maureen Gerstberger

This is an ACTION year for the League of Women Voters, and in keeping with that, the Environmental Quality Committee of the League held a series of three meetings (Units) to update our local positions and discover direction for future action. On Nov. 17, 18 and 20 the EQ Committee presented their findings to other League members as well as the public. The committee is chaired by Maureen Gerstberger with members Gail Anderson, Dana Duxbury, Joan Gilliatt, Elaine Katz, Linda Smith and Sue Tucker.

If you were nabbed by a smiling "petitioner" somewhere in Andover, you know first-hand that one of the subjects the committee worked on was the proposed Massachusetts Bottle Bill. In essence, the Bottle Bill will ban flip top cans and require beer and soft drinks to have refund value of at least 5 cents. Enactment of the Bill will reduce litter (Oregon's bottle bill has reduced litter by 83%). It will save energy and natural resources since manufacturing throw-aways wastes three times as much energy and uses 44 percent of all US container glass, 5.6 percent of our aluminum, and 2 percent of all US steel. It will save money - over $20 million, according to the EPA, from litter collection alone.

The EQ Committee, in cooperation with Robert McQuade, checked the former landfill site to insure that no leachate was polluting the water which leads into Fish Brook and ultimately our water supply. Leachate is the liquid that filters through solid waste and has extracted materials from it, possibly toxic. The test results showed that there was no appreciable pollution from the landfill.

The Haggetts Pond issue of increasing recreational facilities on the town's water supply was researched and discussed. Alan French also spoke at one of the Units and presented his input to the Committee. An Andover Recreation Committee has also been formed, apart from the League's study, to consider the same issue and the final results of the studies should help the Selectmen with their decision next spring.

An in-depth study of the Merrimack River clean-up program was presented and will be detailed in a later article along with a report on the proposed Solid Waste Facility and the consensus positions of the Andover League.

Holiday Concert At Bancroft

One of the happiest events of the Bancroft School year, the annual Holiday Concert, will take place on Wednesday evening, Dec. 17 at 7:30 in the school cafeteria. Presented by the school's Music Department in cooperation with the PTO, the concert will open with a performance by the Bancroft School Band conducted by Allan Minkinen. Choral and instrumental offerings directed by Miss Judith Palmer will include selections sung by the sixth grade chorus, accompanied in part by students playing the Orff instruments, and instrumental ensembles performing music for recorders and flutes.

The program will conclude with the audience joining with the students in the singing of traditional songs of the season. All Bancroft families are invited to enjoy the evening.

Movies At Bancroft

A large turnout of youngsters enjoyed the first in a series of movies held at the Bancroft School last Saturday. Fred Flintstone, Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and all their friends, plus loads of popcorn made this a fun filled afternoon.

This week a full length Walt Disney movie, "The Shaggy Dog" will be the main feature, with a "Marx Brothers" short rounding out the fun.

The show starts at 2 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 13.

AVIS Acquires Parcel On Salem Street

Andover Village Improvement Society (AVIS) has just acquired a parcel of land from Phillips Academy on the northerly side of Salem Street. The parcel abuts the AVIS Skug River Reservation on its northwesterly boundary, and the AVIS Edmond E. Hammond Reservation on its northerly boundary. It has an area of 3.81 acres and a frontage of 577 feet on Salem Street.

The deed stipulates that the parcel shall be held permanently for conservation and recreational purposes, shall remain open to the public, and that no building shall be erected thereon. The land is wooded, and part of its frontage is wet in the spring. It is intended to retain it in its natural condition.

This acquisition is in accord with the policy of AVIS to protect the town's ground water supply; and the prohibition of any construction on the land removes the possibility of any polluting drainage entering the Skug River. This acquisition increases the holdings of AVIS on the northerly side of Salem Street, including the two abutting AVIS reservations, to 28.7 acres. The Conservation Commission owns a parcel of land comprising 9.3 acres abutting the AVIS land, and this, combined with the AVIS land, gives a total of 38.0 acres of conservation land in this vicinity.

The Conservation Commission land is located off Gray Road, with access through Korinthan Way. It is planned to put a joint trail system through the conservation Commission and AVIS lands, which will connect Gray Road with Salem Street, and become a part of the town's trail system. Tom Cone, chairman of AVIS Management Committee, and Virginia Hammond, chairman of the Conservation Commission, are working jointly on the project.

Wood carvers in the little town of Oberammergau, Austria, meet on Christmas Eve and ski down the mountain slopes with flaming torches in their hands, singing as they go.

Deadline For Filing Tax Exemption Nears

The General Laws of the Commonwealth require the filing of applications for exemption of real estate taxes by disabled veterans and elderly persons on or before Dec. 15 of each year. Applications will be accepted in the Andover Assessors Office until 4:30 p.m.

Assessor William H. Russell states that veterans with at least a ten percent disability, and who were domiciled in Massachusetts either six months prior to entry in service, or five consecutive years before filing the application and who were domiciled in the property on Jan. 1 may apply for this exemption. First year applicants must present a certificate from the Veterans Administration indicating the 10% or more disability.

Certain elderly persons are entitled to an exemption provided they were 70 years of age on Jan. 1; were domiciled in Massachusetts for 10 years preceding Jan. 1; owned and occupied such real estate as his domicile as of Jan. 1; owned the real estate five years preceding Jan. 1; and occupied as his domicile such real property or other real property in the Commonwealth for the preceding five years consecutively. The whole estate owned by the applicant must not exceed $40,000 if single, or $45,000 (applicant and spouse) if married. Income of the applicant in the preceding year must be less than $6,000; or if married the combined income must be less than $7,000.

Honored By IRS

Five local persons were honored at the Internal Revenue Service Career Awards ceremony held Monday in the Service Center on Lowell St.

Sophie Z. Didell, Heath Road and Edith M. Patterson, Village Green, both of North Andover were given awards by Director M. Eddie Heironimus for 25 years of Government service. Laura Tylus, Summer St., North Andover received an award for 20 years service.

Two Andover residents, Lattie

A. DePippo, Dascomb Road and Laura E. Bliven, North Main St. were given awards for 15 years of service.

Tsongas Endorses Udall

U.S. Rep. Paul E. Tsongas has announced his formal endorsement of the presidential candidacy of Morris K. Udall, saying his year-long exposure to Udall's "character and philosophy" made him "confident" Udall would make "an outstanding President."

The Lowell Democrat praised Udall's stands on the environment, the war, tax and campaign reform, but reserved his greatest enthusiasm for Udall's efforts "to curb unemployment and solve the nation's energy crisis," which Tsongas identified as, at once, "the most crucial issues facing the fifth district," and the "most outstanding problems facing the country."

Tsongas, who is the elected Secretary of the current class of freshmen House members, said Udall "has the depth of character to care about these issues." Udall would, Tsongas said, provide the nation with a "Presidency of moral leadership."

Christmas Party At Library

All Friends of the Andover Memorial Hall Library and their families are invited to attend the Annual Christmas Party to be held Sunday, Dec. 14 at 3 p.m. The program, which will be followed by refreshments, promises entertainment and fun for all.

There will be seasonal musical selections presented by a very accomplished company of performers on woodwind and stringed instruments under the direction of Mr. Thomas from Phillips Academy. And another musical segment with an entirely different feeling will be presented by the brass choir comprised of young adults from Andover High School.

As a counterpoint to the musical segment there will be a fulfilled presentation of magic by Mr. Luminello, a professional magician from Lowell.

About 36.5 million women were in the work force at the beginning of 1975 - approximately 40 per cent of the country's entire labor force and almost 46 per cent of all women 16 years of age and over, the U.S. Labor Department reports.

Announcing Book Fair

Book Fair At Sanborn

A large, green dinosaur, a huge grey shark and posters adorn the halls of Sanborn School to announce its annual book fair, Dec. 10 through Dec. 12. The sale, which is sponsored by the PTA, is held in the school cafeteria between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. except Friday, when it will close at 4 p.m.

This provides everyone with an excellent opportunity to do their last minute holiday shopping. There is a variety of carefully chosen paperbacks which cover a complete range of ages and interests.

Mrs. Dot Driscoll and Mrs. Susan Schwarz are co-chairpersons for the event. They will be assisted by room mothers and parents.

Harrington Endorses Harris

Congressman Michael J. Harrington of Salem today endorsed the candidacy of former Oklahoma Senator Fred Harris for the 1976 Democratic Presidential nomination.

Appearing with Harris at a press conference in Boston, Harrington said: "One candidate is talking about fundamental change in American society and about getting people back to work. That candidate is Fred Harris."

Harrington asserted that Harris's program for full employment "will put New Englanders back to work constructing new housing, improving mass transit, developing alternate energy resources, cleaning up the environment, providing better health and day care services, and rebuilding small business which is the backbone of the region's economy."

Harrington's statement emphasized Harris's strong stands against concentrated economic and political power in America. The Salem Democrat described Harris as "the one candidate who can reach out to the alienated and disenfranchised without appealing to fear and prejudice."

Clowns To Highlight Program

A clown show and carolling groups highlight this weekend's activities in the Lawrence Intown Mall. The major attraction will be the Living Poem Theater, a professional children's theater. The group will present two performances of "The Clown Meeting" on Saturday, Dec. 13, at 2 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. in the Mall. The show includes juggling, uni-cycling, fire-eating, stories, and improvisations. The performances are being sponsored by Lawrence Intown and admission is free. The Living Poem Theater has recently performed in Lawrence at the Holy Rosary School and the Lawlor School. The group is based in Greenfield, and has put on shows from Cape Cod to New Mexico.

Another feature of the Intown Christmas season are the carolling groups which have been performing in and around the Mall on a daily basis. On Friday, the Garrett Players will entertain Intown visitors with special selections of Christmas music. The show begins at 7 p.m. in the Mall.

All Dolled Up For Christmas

Some youngsters got Christmas dolls, local charities benefitted and many area residents received prizes in the annual doll contest conducted by the Andover Savings Bank. The bank conducts the doll dressing contest, for which prizes are awarded; then auctions off the toys with the proceeds going to such as the Eagle-Tribune Santa Claus fund and other causes to assist at

Awarded Scholarship

Barbara L. Hempstead of Andover has been awarded a Benjamin G. Brown Scholarship at Tufts University, where she is a senior.

The award is given in honor of the late Benjamin G. Brown, a one-time Walker Professor of Mathematics at Tufts, to seniors who have shown promise in scientific research in fields other than chemistry.

Hempstead, a biology major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Hempstead of 8 Sagamore Drive.

Christmas Eve in Finland is reserved for a family service of prayer and sermon, preceded by every member of the family taking a traditional sauna to honor the celebrations.

Have a Merry 1974 Christmas.

We figure the best way to say "Merry Christmas" to our customers is with last year's prices. So our chocolates still start at $3.15 a lb. And some items like fudge at $1.50 a lb., buttercrunch at $2.50, assorted nuts at $2.95 and cashews at $3.25 a lb. are considerably lower than last year. At Putnam Pantry, you don't have to be rich to enjoy the Christmas spirit. Just smart.

Fencing Due For High School Area

Fences on either side of Andover High School, to keep cars off the grass and cut down on graffiti, may soon appear.

While agreeing that fences are "offensive", the school committee last week gave Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert the nod to go out to bid for six-foot fencing.

On the left, it would run from the tennis courts to the school building; on the right, it would run away from the building, beginning about halfway back, but in front of the business wing.

"We have some problems here that every other town has," Seifert said, adding that it was time to come up with some remedies.

Principal Philip Wormwood said automobiles get behind the high school and tear up the lawn, particularly on weekends, but also late in the evenings.

In addition, he said, there have been some "creative expressions" in white paint on the rear of the school.

He said a few more lights might help, and they plan to sandblast the writing off the walls. However, they want to postpone that action until a fence goes up.

Meanwhile, the committee agreed to whitewashing over the graffiti.

Mrs. Lang Takes Two Honors

Mrs. Robert Lang of the Andover Garden Club took two honors in the recent Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts show at the Burlington Mall. More than 100 members of many garden clubs participated in the show, entitled "Blueprint for Independence," in tribute to the bicentennial celebration.

Mrs. Lang won a Creativity Award for "personal expression and artistic distinction," as well as a blue ribbon in the Artistic Division.

High School Ski Team Attains Varsity Status

By Susan Donnelly

Winter is finally here (For all ski lovers, anyway) and this year marks the advent of the Andover High School ski team's achievement of varsity status!

The former "student sponsored ski team" has worked hard to become a varsity team, while at the same time, expanding the program so as to include as many new skiers as possible.

The program started under the direction of Joe Sweeney five years ago with a few interested skiers. Since that time the team has competed with other schools in the Merrimack Valley area, winning the league championship twice, placing second twice, and tying once.

This year, however, many changes have been made. In addition to being recognized as a varsity team, two programs of instruction have been set up to accommodate as many members as possible.

Co-Coach Sweeney will be coaching "up country" on weekends at the Crotched-Onset Mountains for kids who cannot work out at practices during the week. Co-Coach Ted Sutton will be on hand to coach at the Bradford Ski Area for a few hours during the afternoon on designated week days.

Two races a week are scheduled for all members and are held locally. It is the goal of the team to prepare as many skiers as possible to take part in the interscholastic slalom races. All eligible members are encouraged to participate in the races not only to better the individuals' skiing ability but to earn points hopefully leading to yet another AHS Merrimack Valley League championship.

Andover's 'Cardiac Kids' Give Us Another Super Day

Sealing The Verdict

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High football team fooled Mother Nature last Saturday, proving without question that lightning can strike the same place twice.

The thunderbolt was an electrifying 14-yard touchdown pass from Bill Alexander to Glenn Verrette with 1:25 left to play, propelling the amazing Golden Warriors to a come-from-behind 7-3 conquest of stubborn Plymouth-Carver in Super Bowl V at Boston University's Nickerson Field.

Sound familiar? It should, because the exact same duo paired for a last-ditch TD strike one year ago to give AHS its first Eastern Mass. Division II title in a 21-20 overtime thriller against Salem.

Warrior Tom Henderson clutches football in fumble recovery in the final seconds of Saturday's Super Bowl, thus insuring the 7-3 win for Andover.

This one, witnessed by a crowd of 3,800 predominantly Andover fans, came about as easily as pulling teeth with a pair of rusty pliers.

The rival defensive units held complete control until the Warriors' game-winning touchdown trek in the final 2:37 of play.

Virgin Soil

The Andover side of the field was left practically untouched

throughout the scoreless first half, but the astroturf on the Plymouth-Carver sector took a beating as the opening two quarters were played almost exclusively in Blue Eagles' territory.

The quickness and pursuit of the P-C defense stymied Andover such that the undefeated Merrimack Valley Conference champs managed only one first down and 11 yards total offense in the half. On the ground AHS netted minus 21 yards, and the air game was contained for a mere 32 yards.

Plymouth-Carver, however, found the Warriors' wall just as formidable and failed to penetrate beyond its own 45 yard line.

The names are all familiar, but once again leading the Andover defense were Tom Henderson, John Drivas, Gerry Stabile, Jim Deyermund, Tom Coffey, Mike Bernard, Dan Welsh, Tom Kenney, Dave Mirisola, Bob Hoelzel and Glenn Verrette.

Knocking On The Door

Three times Andover moved within a 9-iron shot of the P-C endzone but each of these first-half bids was buried.

Coffey, Henderson, Welsh and Deyermund set the stage for the initial threat, combining to nail Blue Eagles' top runner Joe Paul Britto for a nine-yard loss back at the P-C six as he faded to throw the option pass. Two plays later Bill Hollis punted out to his own 42 yard line, and Mark Farnham returned to the Eagles' 26. Three formations later AHS found itself back on the 41, however, as Alexander was sacked by Jay Axon for a nine-yard loss and John DeSisto for six more.

Late in the first quarter Verrette recovered a Jody O'Donnell fumble at the P-C 22 yard line. Glenn picked up the ball and ran it into the endzone, but that's illegal and he didn't get away with it.

Successive runs by Stabile, Lou Pizarro and John Fabiani gained just four yards, and on fourth down Pete Villani intercepted a pass intended for Verrette at the P-C 10.

Near the close of the half Verrette intercepted an Evo Alberti aerial near midfield to keep Plymouth-Carver buried in its own end.

Hollis Toes 38-Yarder

The Blue Eagles launched their only sustained march of the entire game at the start of the second half, moving 52 yards in 15 plays to bring the ball within fieldgoal range.

Britto, who chewed up 970 yards of turf during the regular season, carried seven times for 20 yards and lofted a 14-yard option toss to Russ Alves to key the drive.

After 5:56 of the third period had elapsed, P-C was faced with a fourth-and-8 situation at the Golden Warriors' 21.

Enter Bill Hollis, who boomed a 38-yard three-pointer just over the crossbar to put Andover on the short end of the score for the second straight game.

Active December Program Planned

There will be no excuse for anyone to sit at home twiddling their thumbs during December as during the entire month the Recreation - Community Schools Department will offer a variety of entertainment.

It may be cold outside but the water in the Vocational pool will make you feel as though the summer is back. Every Wednesday night from 6 to 7:15 p.m. for the next 5 weeks, junior and senior high school students may participate in a free introductory water polo course. You need not be a strong swimmer to participate as shallow water games will also be held to accommodate swimmers of all levels.

Adults may also get in on the fun as a recreational fun swim will be held from 7:15 to 8:30 p.m., same night, same place. Water polo equipment will also be available for those adults wishing to play the game. There is no registration for either swim - just show up next Wednesday night.

Again this year, the department will offer a bargain fun night at Boston Garden. 100 discount tickets to the Friday, Dec. 19 meeting between the New York Knicks and the Boston Celtics are now available at the Recreation - Community Schools Department office, 36 Bartlet St. Bus transportation will be provided. Tickets for last year's trip sold out quickly so get your tickets early. Tickets will be sold on a first come first serve basis. More information may be obtained by calling the department.

Ski conditions at Cannon Mountain are improving daily and should be excellent by the time Dec. 30 rolls around. That is the date of the first Recreation - Community Schools Department ski trip which is open to all students in grades 9 through 12. A bus will leave the Andover High school parking lot at 7 a.m. and return at approximately 7:30 p.m. Openings still remain.

The overnight trip with skiing at Cannon and Waterville Valley planned for the weekend of Jan. 17 and 18, 1976, has been received with tremendous response. If a sufficient number of students sign up before the deadline of Dec. 18, an additional bus will be provided. Don't be left behind on either of these trips, get your deposit into either the Recreation - Community Schools Department or the high school now.

More information concerning either trip may be obtained by calling the department.

Be the first on your block to display a Recreation Community Schools ping pong tournament trophy in your house.

The first step in getting your trophy is to register at the Recreation - Community Schools office for the event which will take place in the High School cafeteria on Saturday, Dec. 13.

Entrants may register for singles or doubles competition at either the beginner, intermediate or advanced level. The tournament is open to any person who either lives or works in Andover. Tournament play is divided into two classes. I. Junior and Senior High II. Adults

Players are requested to bring their own paddles as the department has a limited supply.

Practice time is available at the high school gym Monday through Thursday 8 to 10 p.m.

Extra tables are needed for the event. Anyone willing to donate the services of their table for the day is asked to contact the department. Tables will be picked up on Friday and returned on Monday.

SAC hours at the high school have changed with the implementation of the new law, Chapter 622. The new time schedule is: Monday and Wednesday 8-10 p.m., Tuesday 6:30-9 p.m. and Thursday 8-10 p.m. weight room and gymnastics only.

Open gym for Junior high students is at West Junior on Monday nights 6:30-9 and at East Junior on Wednesday nights 6:30-9 p.m. Equipment will be available for basketball, floor hockey, gymnastics, volleyball and ping pong.

Final Date

The last day to register for the Recreation - Community Schools ski trips to Cannon Mountain and Waterville Valley is Thursday, Dec. 18 by 4:30 p.m. The day trip to Cannon Mountain has been opened to include 7th and 8th grade students. Deposits for both trips should be paid at the Recreation - Community Schools office. Few openings remain and the last seats will be filled on a first come first serve basis.

Telling The Story

Warriors

AHS Aroused

The sleeping giant awoke after falling behind, as new energy was pumped into the dormant AHS offense following the fieldgoal.

Mark Farnham returned the ensuing kickoff back to the Andover 30. Stabile clicked off seven quick yards on the ground. Alex fired a 23-yard strike to Farnham, but it was hauled back to the original line of scrimmage following a clipping penalty.

The angry behemoth kept charging, however, when Alex drilled a 40-yard pass-and-run aerial over the middle to the speedy Farnham.

Stabile bulled six more yards to the Eagles' 24, but the attack suddenly ran out of steam. Runs by Alex and Stabile gained nothing, before the quarterback was dumped by Scott Downie at the 24 on fourth down.

On the first play of the fourth period, P-C Coach Paul Urban gambled and lost. Faced with a fourth-and-three at his own 46, he had Hollis fake a punt and run for the first down.

The left side of the AHS line drove Hollis out of bounds near the yard marker, and for several agonizing seconds no one knew if he had made it or not.

"The officials were right on top of the play," Andover Coach Dick Collins said later. "I thought he might have gotten it, but he came up shy by about one inch."

Shunning A Tie

Once again the Andover offense began to slice through P-C like a knife glides through butter.

Alex ran for three yards, then raced for 15 more and pitched back to Verrette trailing, as the talented wide receiver tacked on five yards to the Blue Eagles' 25.

A quick out to Verrette, who snagged nine passes during the morning for 97 yards, carried to the 21.

Alexander scrambled around the left side to the P-C five, but another costly clipping penalty brought the ball back to the 26.

Only slightly ruffled by the latest setback, Alex pitched an 18-yard pass to Pizarro for a first-and-goal at the eight yard line of the Old Colony League champs.

Stabile cracked the left side for three yards. A pass for Verrette fell incomplete, and Stabile was stopped at the four

Now it was fourth down, and Collins faced a dilemma.

There were 7½ minutes left on the clock, and the options were to attempt a tying fieldgoal or go for the touchdown.

"With Verrette and Alexander in there you go for the TD," offered Collins later. "I'd do the same thing if it happened again."

The play was designed to go from Bill to Glenn, but the script was much-too-familiar to Plymouth-Carver.

Bob Roncarati and Downie, almost 400 pounds of beef, barreled through the offensive line and sacked Alexander for a nine-yard loss before he could even think of setting up to throw.

Conservative

"I think we became too conservative at this point," explained P-C Coach Urban. "I kept watching the clock and hoping we could keep the ball away from Andover. We couldn't afford any turnovers, so we stuck to the running game."

The Warriors' next opportunity came with 5:39 on the clock, as they set up shop at the Blue Eagles' 43 following a Hollis punt.

Alex scrambled out of the pocket for a pair of yards, but a pass to Verrette was underthrown as P-C kept applying constant pressure.

Junior Mitch Rousseau entered at quarterback and Alexander was shifted into the slot. Mitch fired a 20-yard pass on the run to Verrette, but a third penalty (holding) nullified the gain and shoved AHS back into its own territory.

Panthers, Shags Tied For Top

Action in the Andover Men's Basketball League is well underway after three weeks of play. Tied for first place in the 19-32 Division are the Panthers and Shags with identical 3-0 records.

In the Gray Hairs Division, Dana's occupies top spot with an unblemished string of three straight wins.

During last week's contests in the 19-32 Division, Vin Doherty led the Panthers to a 57-56 win over the Drivers by tossing in 15 points. Art Yancy with 11 and Frank Monette's 10 added to the victors' scoring punch. In losing, the Drivers got another good scoring effort from Muller with 21 points, Paul Howe with 10 and Lynch with 12.

The Shags continued their winning ways by handing Doherty's a 72-44 loss. Trombly at 19, Arsenault 17 and Morris with 16 paced the Shags' mighty scoring machine. Dave Murphy was the only Doherty scorer in double figures as he tossed in 11.

Geritol A/C, stung only once by an earlier loss to the Panthers, rebounded with an 86-50 trouncing of the Dudes. Sharpshooting Don Strong and Jack Swift added 20 and 19 respectively for the winners followed closely by mate Bloniewicz's 16. The Dudes had trouble finding the hoop for most of the game, except Jeff England, who flipped in 10 for the losers.

The No-Names stayed close to the Division leaders by bringing their record to 2-1 at the expense of the winless Hornets. Rich Connor's 17 points paced the winners' scorers followed closely by Radcliff and Lafond at 15 apiece. Steve Curtin's 13, Dan Cunningham's 12 and Phil Markey's 10 all contributed to the 84-45 rout. Paul Patti with 12 and Jay Adams with 11 were the only two Hornet scorers in double figures.

The Gray Hairs Division saw Dana's take sole possession of first place by posting a 64-53 victory over previously unbeaten Sweepers. Gary Cypress single-handedly paced the winners with a sensational 36 point scoring output. Les Mencis, shooting well from the outside, hooped 10 for the winners. Fred Serley led the Sweepers with an impressive 16 point burst followed by Jack Dean's 13 and Tom Comparato's 10 but it just wasn't enough to overcome Dana's scoring machine.

The Marauders won a forfeit victory over the Strobes who were unable to field 5 men by game time.

Idled due to a bye, the Pick-ups wait until next week for their next game against Division leader Dana's.

At times, strings of popcorn, berries, and gilt nuts, as well as paper flowers, tiny dolls, candies and cookies, were used to decorate the Christmas tree.

Making A Final Point

Paul Derby (41) puts the final point on the board with his point after conversion in Saturday's 7-3 win by Andover High over Plymouth-Carver at Boston University field.

Getting Out Of Trouble

Bob Hoelzel, as he has done all season long, gets off a good punt to get the Golden Warriors out of trouble. Hoelzel had one of the best punting averages in the Merrimack Valley conference and his effort was particularly noteworthy in both the Super Bowl and the final game against Central Catholic.

midfield with 3:37 to play and ate up exactly one minute on a fruitless series.

The losers finally opened up, or tried to, but Karl Anderson was smothered by Henderson, Bernard and Welsh for a seven-yard loss as he dropped back to throw an option pass.

Hollis punted. Farnham returned it seven yards, and with 2:37 left Collins' crew was camped at its own 34 and swiftly running out of miracles.

The P-C secondary began giving Verrette a little more room, shutting off the outside to prevent the long bomb.

Alex opened this historic 66-yard march by gunning a 14-yard strike to Verrette. The swift signal-caller then darted left for eight yards.

The second biggest play of the morning followed.

Alexander, Verrette and Farnham worked the "flea-flicker" play to absolute perfection, textbook style.

The pass went to Glenn at the P-C 30 yard line, and just before he was tackled Verrette pivoted, scooped the ball to Farnham and watched Andover's left end scamper to the 18 before being dragged down.

"Typical Andover," moaned Urban. "They do that to you...make the really big play at just the right time."

14 yard line, and a quick glance at the scoreboard clock revealed 1:25 to go.

The next play was supposed to be a rapid-fire curl-in pass to Verrette inside the eight yard line for the first down.

However, there was heavy traffic in the middle so Glenn wisely kept on going for the endzone.

Alexander followed Verrette's path, saw Luis Pizarro chauffeuring his teammate to paydirt, and lofted a perfect pass to the All-Scholastic receiver near the back line of the endzone.

"It was probably the only time all day that our deep pass coverage broke down," lamented Urban. "But what timing!"

For Verrette, it marked the 112th and final career reception.

Paul Derby came in to kick the placement, for a 7-3 lead which meant that P-C needed a touchdown rather than a fieldgoal in the remaining 1:14.

Last Gasp

The Blue Eagles were unable to throw a late scare into Andover. After Evo Alberti did some scrambling of his own for short pass completions to Alves and Anderson, the AHS defense applied the final clamp.

Henderson, Welsh and Bill Walsh clobbered Alberti back at the 20, forcing a fumble with 43 seconds on the clock.

Two plays later Andover was the first Division II team to ever win back-to-back Super Bowl championships.

The Golden Warriors, unbeaten through 38 straight games, closed at 10-0-1 overall. P-C was 9-1-1.

St. Augustine's Leads Intermediate Division

By Rick Harrison

The Intermediate Division of the Andover Church Basketball League opened play last Monday night with five games at the East Junior High gym.

Lopsided decisions were the order of the evening, as four of the five contests were highlighted by at least 15-point differences in the final score.

St. Augustine A, 42-8

A veteran St. Augustine A quintet, with much of the same personnel that posted a 15-2 record last season, belted St. Augustine C, 42-8.

Ted Kelley led three players into double figures with 14 points, while younger brother Dick Kelley and Tim Corkery flipped in 10 markers apiece. Mike White netted 6 points and Tom Galvin added 2.

P. Kaminski notched 4 points in a losing cause. Kevin Donnelly and George LeMaitre hit single buckets for the C-team. Other standouts were Chris Kelley and Steve Farrington.

St. Augustine B, 25-10

St. Augustine B received a 13-point effort from Bill Caselden enroute to a 25-10 conquest of Christ Church.

Backing Caselden with 4 points each were big Jack Horan and Steve Paradise, while solo baskets were swished by Dave Barker and Mark Paradise.

Pete Walsh, Larry Torrisi and Mark Perowski also turned in fine all-around efforts for the winners.

Dave Menard countered with 4 points to pace Christ Church. Other second-half fieldgoals were notched by Mark Rogers, Mark Frost and Russ Lewis.

Rounding out the effort with strong games were Tim Stansfield, Paul Brinkman, Chris Connors and John Rogers.

St. Robert's B, 39-8

St. Robert's B, leading by a slim margin after one quarter, erupted for 16 points in the third period to crush South Church, 39-8.

Rich Danner powered the assault with 12 points for the victors. Steve Cameron hooped 9 markers, while Paul Tassanari netted 8 and Lindsay delivered 6. Neil Saunders completed the charge with 4 points.

Mark Newton dumped through 4 points to guide South, and solo two-pointers were canned by Dale Lattanzio and Paul Newton.

Other South sparkplugs were Scott Robichaud, Trip Soule, Art Dunlevy and Andy Witty.

St. Robert's A, 32-16

Phil Farr poured through 12 points, 10 in the first half, and Bob Leitch stuffed 10 markers to propel St. Robert's A to a 32-16 victory over Ballardvale United.

Frank Byrne was next in line with 8 for the winners, while Peter Byrne contributed a single basket.

Kevin Byrne and Barry Lemieux aided the St. Robert's defensive performance.

Todd McLeod led the answering fire for Ballardvale with 8 points. Gary Forbes pocketed 5 and Robbie Robinson delivered 3 points.

Other United standouts were Glen Acciard, Rodney Hollenbeck and Scott Williams.

St. Augustine D, 22-14

St. Augustine D made it three wins for that church on opening night, trimming St. Robert's C by a 22-14 count.

St. Robert's grabbed a 4-3 first period lead, but the victors rallied to take a 9-7 halftime edge and 13-9 advantage after three.

Ernie Perry emerged as game-high scorer with 12 points, including eight in the final quarter. Ernie Costello dunked 6 points, Dave Fluet had a basket and Ed L'Italien swished a pair of charity tosses.

Mike Beaudine, Don Green and Patrick Beaudine were other standouts for the winners.

Intermediate "rookie" Tony Romano netted 6 points for St. Robert's, Mike Damphousse arched through two free throws, and solo buckets were tossed in by Marty Melia, Bob French and Tom O'Brien.

Yvonne Levesque and Ed Damphousse added fine two-way efforts.

Five more Intermediate Division games were slated for next Monday night at East Junior High.

Cabbage Leads List Of Best Buys

Cabbage at current prices as low as 10 cents a pound is typical of the many good buys in fresh produce that can help stretch the weekly food budget, suggests the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture.

At these prices, cabbage costs about 2 cents per serving when cooked, or about a penny per serving when served raw and shredded in a cole slaw!

Also selling at about a dime a pound are butternut and blue Hubbard squash, the large majority of which is still coming in from Massachusetts farms.

Plants Confused By Climate

THE TOWNSMAN, DECEMBER 11, 1975

The pre-Thanksgiving hard frosts arrived in southern New England just in time to head off the out-of-season blooming of some shrubs. Forsythia, for instance, had sprouted a few yellow petals of spring in some neighborhoods.

Observant persons who have seen many autumns and springs will tell you that the plants that become confused by climatic irregularities usually are exotics. In other words, the native New England plants whose ancestors spread south ahead of each glacier and trekked back northward as the ice retreated are more difficult to fool with a little erratic weather than the foreign plants that Europeans brought to America.

There are a number of reasons why native plants resist the folly of unseasonable activity. There are those, of course, that never get that "It's-spring-again" feeling until they have experienced the earth frozen as hard as a rock. But, in general, they gear their activities to the length of daylight. They get the spring feeling as the hours of daylight increase. Temperature does not fool them.

The deportment of plants always has been a mystery to men. We have so little in common when it comes to lifestyles. Some plants climb or grasp insects, others withdraw when touched and then right themselves. Yet we find no equivalent of muscles within them. Others seem to know what they are doing, yet we can find no brain.

As the early American naturalist William Bartram, after witnessing the bog plant, Venus flytrap, seize an insect, observed: "Can we after viewing this object, hesitate a moment to confess, that vegetable beings are endued with some faculties or attributes, familiar to those that dignify animal nature..." Bartram was not the sort to suppose that plants enjoy violin concertos. Yet he noted what others have noted: plants do act in their own best interests.

and Thomas S. Ray, Jr. of Florida State University conducted experiments with a tropical vine to determine how the species found a host tree to climb. They had noted that little seedling vines poked their growing tips above the forest floor litter and headed rather unerringly toward the nearest tree.

The last experimenter who had puzzled over the phenomenon was a Britisher named Bierce who 50 years ago teased a vine with a stake. Whenever the vine made progress toward the stake, Bierce moved it. The vine kept pursuing the stake. Bierce's conclusion was more definite than Bartram's: Bierce decided that there was "a consciousness of plants" and that "plants belong to the philosopher class."

In their study, Strong and Ray proved that the species of vine with which they became familiar tends to grow toward darkness, an unusual attribute in a plant since most seek light. It found the tree trunk because the trunk casts the densest shadow. But once it grasps a trunk, the vine's nature changes and it seeks light - and climbs the tree in its quest.

Two alarms were sounded about twenty after five Monday bringing firemen to the Morton Street area to extinguish fires in two barns owned by Phillips

Legend says a young man was preparing to go home for the New Year holiday, but was told he would be robbed. He changed all of his money into one gold coin and baked it into a loaf. Although thieves stopped and searched him, they did not take his bread.

Assessors Headed Organ

The Essex Assessors Association recently observed its 50th anniversary by publishing a booklet of organizational data for assessors throughout the country.

It is interesting to note that in the history of the operation, the association has been headed by assessors from various parts of the state.

The first president of the association was William H. Andover, who served as secretary for the organization for a decade.

In 1945, F. H. Andover, chairman of the Board of Assessors, was elected as county president.

William H. Andover served as president of the association for a decade.

The book of individual reports of Andover's side of the county, indicating that Andover's continuation of the written relationship with Andover where originally began.

Further notes that as late as 1945, overall town records compassed the area along the Merrimack River.

There is a record of taxes in the town records of the first assessment of the Andover area, which time was called for.

Assessors Headed County Organization

The Essex County Assessors Association which recently observed its 50th anniversary, has produced a booklet outlining the organization and the assessors departments of the country towns and cities.

It is interesting to note that in the half century of operation, the group has been headed on three occasions by Andover men.

The first president of the association was Frank Hardy of Andover who also served as secretary of the organization for over a decade.

In 1945, Roy A. Hardy, chairman of the Andover Board of Assessors served as county president.

William H. Russell, present assessor in Andover, served as president in 1969.

The book contains the individual reports of the towns of Andover and North Andover side by side, indicating that the history of Andover can only be a continuation of what was written relative to North Andover where the community originally began.

Further noted is the fact that as late as 1829 the overall town of Andover encompassed nearly 11 miles along the Merrimack River.

There is little doubt that taxes are inescapable, the town records showing the first assessment in the Andover area coming at 1670 at which time a highway tax was called for.

Banker Is Speaker

Robert M. Henderson, president of the Andover Savings Bank, is featured in this month's publication of Savings Banker, an institutional magazine.

Henderson addressed the annual meeting of the Savings Bank Association of Massachusetts as chairman of the marketing committee, along with fellow committee members Harold Cabot, Jr., and Richard V. Lombardi.

Haartz Files His Bills

Karl Haartz, who stunned State Rep Gerald Cohen a year ago as a freshman Solon, got his usual complement of bills into the legislative hopper before the deadline last week.

Haartz, a resident of High Plain Road, and an annual town meeting speaker, letter writer and observer of state and local governments, presented Cohen with a barrage of bills a year ago to file for him. Cohen, who had just been elected, was amazed at the scope of the legislation Haartz had prepared for Beacon Hill consideration.

Thus, he was prepared this year when Karl presented him with some 11 bills to be filed for consideration by the 1976 session.

Jurors

Eight persons were drawn for jury duty by the selectmen at their business session this week.

To serve at Superior Court in either Lawrence or Salem are Russell Hall, 7 Hall Ave.; Paul Schaaque, 32 Enmore St.; Alfred Puzio, 40 Lovejoy Road; Kenneth Barnhill, 68 Wolcott Ave.; Frank M. McQuentin, 65 Walnut Ave.; Richard Mower, 140 Elm St.; Kempton Howland, 7 Meadowbrook Drive and Helen Towne, 21 Arundel St.

Congratulations

The selectmen have added their congratulations, thus the official town commendation, to the Golden Warriors for capturing the Super Bowl title again this year.

At the suggestion of Selectman George E. Heseltine, the board Monday night officially noted the accomplishments of the Andover High football team.

License Renewals

Common victualler and related liquor licenses were renewed this week by the selectmen sitting as the licensing authority for: The Beverage Barn, Shawsheen Manor, Inc., Andover Lodge 2198, B.P.O.E., Christian Formation Center, Arare Associates Inc. (Indian Ridge Country Club), Turning Point Christian Service Center and lodging house licenses for 109 and 22 School Street.

Parade Approved

The Bicentennial parade scheduled for Sunday, May 9 is official.

The selectmen have issued a parade license to Parade Coordinator Sidney P. White for that date.

Thoughts To Accompany The Christmas Rush

At this time of year amid the rush of Christmas preparation, we have some thoughts to ponder as you check your greetings list.

Santa's Greeting

Santa Claus came to town last Saturday afternoon in about as fine a parade as the town has seen.

It was again the work of the Andover Fire Fighters, assisted by the Andover Chamber of Commerce.

Somehow or other, when people like George Thompson, who chaired the committee for the firefighters, announces that this year's presentation will be bigger and better, you tend to have doubts, knowing that a year ago Santa got the royal treatment here.

But, as promised, this year's traditional event was bigger and better, with an abundance of bands, floats and units entertaining the thousands that lined the downtown parade route.

And, the cartoon characters, Big Bird, Humpty Dumpty, Ernie, and company, rivaled only Santa Claus in popularity among the youthful spectators, as well as the adults.

Leading the parade, of course, the Golden Warrior band which had just returned from accompanying the Andover High football team in their successful defense of the Division II state football title.

Overall, the parade displayed the great effort put forth by the committee to appropriately greet Santa and instill the Christmas spirit in young and old alike, and we commend them for their work.

Town Election

While March seems far away at this season of the year, we can expect the tempo of the municipal election to accelerate right after New Year's Day.

The announcement this week that Selectman Edmund Sullivan, Jr., would not be seeking re-election, leaves two openings available on that board. Selectman George E. Heseltine announced earlier that he too would step down at the end of his term.

We anticipate that at least two candidates are warming up for the campaign, George Lannan and George Connors, the latter a candidate a year ago. No doubt there will be more once the holidays pass.

As for the school committee, we assume that David Ahouse will be seeking a full three-year term in the March election. He was elected last March to complete the term of John G. Wragg who had resigned.

As for the other three-year term up for consideration this year, Robert B. McIntyre, appointed to fill out the year for John F. Lyons who resigned in June is, as yet, undecided as to whether or not to seek a full term. He served once previously and was chairman of the board for a year.

At the moment, there would appear to be some interest being generated in the upcoming municipal election, which is good.

Reichhold Chemicals

It is good once in a while to take a moment to commend some of the old reliable, yet quiet, industries of our community.

Reichhold Chemicals has been an industrial neighbor in Andover for many years and its Lowell Junction operation has been going strong, long before the Gillette's, Hewlett-Packard's, Arkwright-Boston's and others looked upon Andover for residence.

This week, the chemical firm had an open house to give a public view of its new office building and manufacturing area improvements.

The new office building was designed by John Callahan and Associates of Andover.

Officials of the firm explained the need for the new facilities to better serve their customers in the New England area.

Briefly, the open house gave every indication that the company is doing well and has every intention of remaining a part of Andover's industrial life, which, in these difficult economic times, is a refreshing note.

A Super Feeling

The whistle had blown, the game was over and Andover High had won the Division II Super Bowl title for the second straight year in spectacular and dramatic fashion. A fan in the background signalling "we're number one" joyously watched exuberant teammates grasp hero Glenn Verrette. Mark Moriarty's photo captures the spirit of the community at that moment at game's end the feeling we all share in saluting our Golden Warriors.

The Santa Fund

Each year, Christmas becomes a little brighter, for those less fortunate, through the efforts of the Eagle-Tribune Santa Claus Fund.

For over a half century, the generous contributions of countless residents of this area have assisted the E-T Santa in his annual work.

It is at this season of the year when there is a fervent desire to assist, when the feeling of charity and love of one another becomes most prevalent. It is through such feeling that we look to assist, to reach out and help to make the lives of others a little brighter.

It is hardly necessary to point out the difficulties experienced by some this year, due to the economic climate and unemployment problems, which could provide a bleak Christmas morn for many.

But, through the efforts of the Eagle-Tribune Santa Claus, such problems can be overcome, if he is provided with the assistance of generous Greater Lawrencians who have annually answered his appeals in the past.

We highly commend to your attention Santa's appeal this year, in order to make his trip on Christmas morn a little easier and provide for yourself the warm feeling of knowing that the assistance is greatly appreciated.

WEEKLY SPECIAL

JFK's Giancana Connection

by Jack Anderson
with Joe Spear

WASHINGTON — Before the public, the Senate Intelligence Committee has put on a united front, but behind closed doors, the members got into a brouhaha over the explosive report on attempted CIA assassinations.

The Senators argued over what the report should say about the late President John F. Kennedy and his brother, Robert.

Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, felt the evidence was too weak to implicate the Kennedys in the plots to kill Cuban Premier Fidel Castro. But Senator Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., believed the Kennedys must have known about it. The report was held up for several weeks while the Senators tried to pin down more details.

Some Democrats also tried to delete from the report all references to a Kennedy campaign volunteer, named Judith Campbell, who had telephoned President Kennedy at the White House several times from the home of the late mobster Sam Giancana. She was also acquainted with another mobster, John Roselli.

Giancana and Roselli happened to be the two Mafia figures who were involved in plots against Castro.

Campbell gave the committee a deposition swearing that she knew nothing about the assassination plots. President Kennedy also cut off all contact with the woman after the late FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover warned him of her mobster associations.

Some Senators felt, therefore, that the Campbell affair should not be mentioned in the report. But the majority agreed this might be cited as evidence of a cover-up. So the episode was included. Only the woman's name was omitted.

Match Game: Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis has started a new national guessing game. Who will be her next husband?

Her associates are certain of only one thing: He'll be rich. They tell us Jackie is more interested in money than men. She has an obsession about money.

As First Lady, she always spent more than the late President Kennedy earned. She spent $105,446.14 during her first year in the White House, $121,461.61 the following year. She squandered more than $40,000 a year on clothes alone. The rest went for food, liquor, jewelry, art and beauty treatments.

Her spending habits became even more extravagant after she married the Greek shipping tycoon Aristotle Onassis. One month, she turned in a $5,000 bill for messenger service. Another time, she submitted a $6,000 bill for the care and feeding of her pets.

Onassis also got a $9,000 bill for gown from Valentino's of Rome. He complained afterwards that he couldn't figure out what she did with all the clothes, because he never saw her in anything but blue jeans.

We found out, however, what she does with her costly clothes. Our reporters spent a week in New York City running down the facts. Jackie resells her clothing and squirrels away the cash.

She peddles everything from coats, suits, and gowns to pocketbooks, blouses and slacks. The labels are the best. Sometimes she demands a fixed price. Other times, she accepts whatever the market will bear.

Once it took the Encore Shop six months to sell a white coat, with a Valentino's label, at the price Jackie demanded.

Promises, Promises: Two years ago, former President Richard Nixon pledged to donate his San Clemente estate to the American people after his death.

We have checked with the National Park Service, General Services Administration and other agencies which might receive the gift. Apparently, no one in the government has heard another word from Nixon about his seaside estate. Sources close to Nixon acknowledge that he has made no move to bequeath his estate to the public.

His attorneys refused to comment.

The former President also promised some time ago to pay back tax assessments and penalties totalling $148,080.97 for the year 1969, even though the three-year statute of limitations had run out. The U.S. Treasury has yet to receive a penny of the promised payment.

Fuelishness: President Ford has called upon Americans to sacrifice to save fuel. But we have discovered, on at least two occasions, that noisy aircraft have been diverted so they wouldn't interfere with the President's outdoor television appearances.

When the President swore in Donald Rumsfeld as the new Defense Secretary, for example, planes flying into nearby National Airport were diverted away from the Pentagon. At least two planes were kept circling, burning precious fuel.

A few weeks before that, planes were diverted while the President spoke at the Arlington National Cemetery.

A White House spokesman told us the President was unaware that planes had been diverted during his outdoor appearances and that he had given explicit orders to prevent it from happening again.

Oswald Files: The FBI has turned over to the Senate Intelligence Committee 69 suppressed documents on the activities of Lee Harvey Oswald before he allegedly gunned down the late President Kennedy in Dallas. The CIA has also opened up its Oswald files to the Committee.

Editor's Note: Santa Claus and Christmas are best seen through the eyes of a child, thus we assigned our youngest scribe, two and one-half year old David Corbett to cover Andover's Santa Claus parade on Saturday. The report is presented with the assistance of his mother, Linda S. Corbett of the TOWNSMAN staff.

By David Christian Corbett

I looked up at my white balloon against the sky, and wondered what all the commotion was about. I'd never been to a parade before, and I didn't see one yet.

A lady pushed a little boy up next to us in one of those fold-up strollers, but he didn't want to stay in it. And some of the bigger kids kept getting in front of him anyway, way out in the street.

Then you heard the touchdown? another lady asked someone behind us, and Mom turned to Dad and said Andover must have won after all.

Daddy had asked me if I wanted a balloon, and he walked off down to the corner to get one for me. I looked up as he walked under a green arch with colored lights and I yelled, "Lookie, Mom, there's Christmas."

I was supposed to "stay put," but I kept standing on my tiptoes, trying to open the doors of those stores because it looked like fun for someone who's "a half and two." "There weren't any red ones left," Daddy said when he brought my balloon, because that's what I'd ordered. But this one was special, he said, it had "American Bicentennial" on it and there was a soldier in blue. I recognized him by his gun. Daddy tied the string around my wrist and told me to let it go.

"I don't want to let it go," I said, because I was afraid it would get away like that blue one way up there in the sky.

"Whew!" I thought, when it only flew up to the end of the string and stayed there, just over my head.

I still didn't know what was happening, until a police car came down the street.

"Whoooooooo, oooooooo, wa, wa, wa, waaaaaaa," it went.

People pushed farther out into the street in front of us and started clapping, and other people came walking right down the middle of the street where the cars are supposed to go.

I stared with my mouth wide open when the Andover High School Band went by, so close I could practically touch their gold tassels. Then a big truck came with people sitting on the back and Mommy said there was the Baby Jesus.

"A left, a left, a left right left," I heard, and when I looked back the other way I saw a whole bunch of Cub Scouts. Then this little boat came buzzing from one side of the street to the other and everyone around me laughed and said it wasn't a boat at all, but a tank.

"What's that?" I yelled when another funny truck went by, and Dad said it was Santa's Workshop.

One of Santa's helpers handed me a lollipop and I said "thank you" very quietly, because by then I was getting tired and Daddy put me up on his shoulders so I could rest.

Next there were clowns - big

The Board of the Women Voters of Andover supports the Planning and Conservation Commission's opposition to their new location of the Andover Office. After four years of study and investigation, state and local policy, the League of Women Voters has concluded that the necessity for long-range planning for the wise use of land is therefore object to a new site on several acres. We think that moving the Andover Office from the current location to the new site would maintain a counter facility for the town, it would be in the Main St. facade, and Shawshank's box-holding is impossible for as residents. 2) Moving the Andover Office to Andover Street against a long-standing town plan to plan the use of its land. The town would create a mini-commercially-zoned location, in direct contrast to the consensus reached in the Central Business District Survey. 3) The change would also alter patterns in the town who were not for their boxes to drive down residential streets many through or Bridge, thus exacerbating already difficult traffic there, and precluding the prospect of cost improvements. Finally, out of the center necessitate eight mail trucks and eleven postmen, thus increasing the town's financial burden.

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

The Board of the League of Women Voters of Andover endorses the Planning Board and Conservation Commission in their opposition to the proposed new location of the Andover Post Office. After four years of intensive study and involvement in national, state and local land use policy, the League recognizes the necessity for long-range planning for the wise use of land. We therefore object to the proposed new site on several grounds. 1) We think that moving the Post Office from the central business district would remove an important destination for many potential customers in the downtown section, thus losing business in an already weakened area. Although reported that the Post Office would maintain an over-the-counter facility for stamps and packages, it would close all boxes in the Main St. facility, Ballardvale, and Shawshen, thus making box-holding inconvenient or impossible for as many as 600 residents. 2) Moving the Post Office to Andover Street would go against a long-standing policy of the town to plan rationally for the use of its land. The move would create a mini-center at the residentially-zoned Andover St. location, in direct conflict with the consensus reached by the Central Business District Survey. 3) The proposed site change would also affect traffic patterns in the town. Boxholders who were not forced to discontinue their boxes would have to drive down residential streets, many through or by the Horn Bridge, thus exacerbating an already difficult traffic problem there, and presenting the prospect of costly road improvements. Finally, a new site out of the center of town would necessitate eight to ten more mail trucks and eliminate all foot postmen, thus increasing energy consumption and air pollution.

The League of Women Voters of Andover urges the Town Boards to conduct a vigorous search for an alternate site in the central business district, or in Shawshen Plaza. Moreover, we would suggest careful and critical questioning of Post Office officials on their proposed requirements for a new facility. We encourage all officials to give serious thought to expanding the present facility of Main St. up and back, with the installation of needed elevators, conveyor belts or other modernizations, and the purchase, if need be, of part of the town parking space. Rehabilitation of an existing building could only enhance the town's investment in its existing services in the central business district, and would certainly be more energy-efficient and labor intensive.

We also encourage all townspeople to express their feelings on this matter to all their elected officials, and will do the same ourselves.

Cleanup Program

Members of the Friends of Shawsheen Village conducted a cleanup campaign around the Sacred Heart property over the weekend. Over 20 bags of litter were collected by the neighborhood association members during the weekend activity.

Shawsheen Group Has Cleanup

The Friends of Shawsheen Neighborhood Association, under the direction of Mrs. Marilyn Wright of 13 Carisbrooke St., held a cleanup of the Sacred Heart School property on Nov. 29. It was a real neighborhood venture, with DeMoulas' providing trash bags and donuts, and the Shawsheen Luncheonette supplying coffee for the twenty-three residents who participated.

Since the Sacred Heart School was forced to close, the few brothers remaining in residence have been unable to maintain the grounds and Shawsheen residents have become increasingly concerned over the deterioration of the property. In fact, twenty-five trash bags were filled by the group.

George Fantini, president of the association, has discussed the matter with the town manager and asked for his help in solving the problem. The manager has indicated his willingness to continue the effort begun by the Friends of Shawsheen by having the property picked up periodically.

The Friends of Shawsheen are planning other beautification projects in the future and welcome participation in all areas of the association's endeavors.

Diabetes Results In Mail

Mrs. Robert J. Pelrine, coordinator of the recent Diabetes Screening Clinic sponsored by the Merrimack Valley Diabetes Education Program, announces that the reports on the test results will be in the mail within the next 10 days.

Mrs. Pelrine extends appreciation to the Bon Secours and Lawrence General Hospitals for their generous role in the Screening Clinic; to the Lawrence YWCA for the room to conduct the Clinic; to Miss Hamilton of the YWCA for her unequalled cooperation; to the members of the Merrimack Valley Diabetes Education Program, Mrs. Anne Hubbard, R.N., Mrs. Eleanor Maloney, R.N., Mrs. Brenda Kohler, and Mrs. Kathi Salvi for their aid in registering the participants. Mrs. Lorraine Farrell and Mrs. Joan Lockwood, of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority receive special thanks for their part as receptionists and aides at the Clinic. Mrs. Pelrine notes that without the effort and supervision of Dr. Harry Kaloustian, MVDEP Medical Advisor, the clinic could not have been a reality.

As the clinic was the first endeavor of this kind undertaken by the MVDEP, and the response of the general public far exceeded Lieutenant Packard now goes to Plattsburgh AFB, N.Y., for duty with a unit of the Strategic Air Command.

A 1970 graduate of Andover High School, the lieutenant received his B.S. degree in 1974 at Lowell Technological Institute and was commissioned through the Reserve Officers Training Corps program. He is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Boston's Museum of Science invites its visitors to take a look at paintings by four chimpanzees in a temporary exhibition on display there through December.

Prepared by the Portland Zoological Gardens, Oregon, the 17 panels that make up the exhibition are entitled "Children, Behold the Chimpanzee," from lines by British poet Oliver Herford, (but adults will surely enjoy it, too.) Included are original paintings by four Portland chimps and a discussion of the importance of sensory experience to animals in captivity.

At the Portland Zoo, the four chimps who have gained national fame for their paintings have also mastered more than two dozen words in American Sign Language, and photographs show them communicating with zoo workers in this manner.

Accompanying the paintings and photographs are quotations from such experts as British naturalist Jane Goodall, psychologist Robert M. Yerkes, and author Desmond Morris that point out the chimpanzee's innate abilities, its activities in the wild, and its need for an interesting environment in captivity. The experiments with painting and sign language are attempts to meet this need.

The exhibit came about in reponse to interest in the four Portland chimps and their paintings. Dr. Philip Ogilvie, former director of the zoo, decided that an exhibition was a good idea, but that it should not be confined to the paintings. Thus he and his staff set about assembling an exhibit to educate the public about chimps and the problems of all animals in captivity.

And, through tours of the country, the exhibit bids people of all ages to "...behold the Chimpanzee."

Ice Capades At Garden

The most refreshing application of frozen water since the ice cube was invented is this year's all-new Ice Capades, opening Dec. 26 at The Boston Garden for 17 performances. Tickets are now on sale.

An evening of entertainment "Just For You" is promised by the entire cast as they glide across the ice in flowing metallic robes and high hats - setting the mood and tempo of the numbers to follow.

If you need to get back into shape, follow "Miss Physical Fitness," the sensational Jo Jo Starbuck, as she instructs Billy Chapel, Paul Guzman, and the Corps de Ballet in "Gym 'N Ice Tricks."

The ice turns into a happy forest of animal playmates in "Happy Birthday Yogi Bear." Fred Flintstone, Scooby Doo, Huckleberry Hound, Quick Draw McGraw, Hong Kong Phooey, and the Banana Splits join Yogi to cook up a fantastic celebration - complete with giant picnic baskets.

"The Story of Tsing-Tsu" tells of a bitter-sweet romance in the old Mongolian empire, dramatically interpreted by lovely Sarah Kawahara and the imitable Ken Shelley.

Billy Chapel enters a world of half remembrances in which he sees himself as a dancer when he plays an old phonograph in "The Curiosity Shoppe." Lovely Dawn Seesler and adagio stars Peter and Barbara appear within this magic spell to recall good times past.

Within a psychedelic extravaganza of light, Sarah Kawahara, Paul Guzman and the Corps de Ballet interpret life in a pinball machine world in "A Pinball Odyssey."

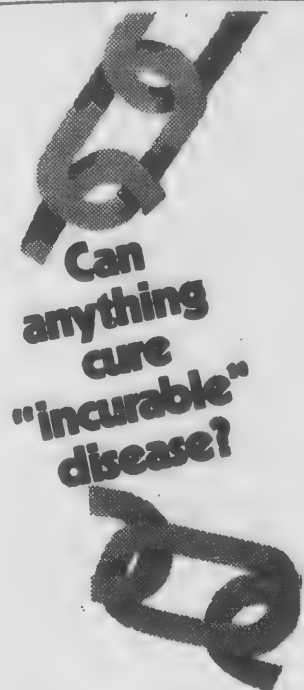

Our 32 beautiful Ice Capettes become "Those Golden Girls" to give us a nostalgic glimpse of the Busby Berkeley Goldiggers.

We'll put a gleam in your eyes and tickle your funnybone with famous British comic Terry Head bringing a "mummy" to life; the daffy duo LaBrecque and Mac; and the astounding young skating juggler, Albert Lucas.

A display of fireworks highlights "I Love A Parade" as the cast wraps up the evening with a toe-tapping, flag-waving salute.

So don't limit your experiences with frozen water to ice cubes. This year's Ice Capades is a spectacle you'll never forget. Tickets are available by mail, Master Charge and BankAmericard, Ticketron Outlets and The Boston Garden Box Office.

The elf-like "Tomten" who brings gifts to Swedish children rides a goat.

God can. And He does every day.

At our Wednesday testimony meetings, you can hear people tell how God has healed them of many kinds of sickness, of severe financial problems, and of troubled personal relationships.

Won't you come... this Wednesday? The Christian Scientists in your neighborhood welcome you.

She is a member of the class of 1979 and is working at the Doherty School at 36 Bartlett Street.

Shoe Store Seeking New Space

The Family Shoe store, formerly located in the Elander Men's store on Main Street, is temporarily displaced and hopeful of remaining an Andover outlet.

Paul Gymrek, manager of the shoe store, which was a separate operation from the clothing store, explained that the store was forced out due to new tenants planning to occupy the entire retail parcel.

Gymrek said he is still seeking space in the downtown Andover area and hopefully will relocate in a short time. At the moment there is no retail space available suitable to the operation, Gymrek said, but due to circumstances beyond control, the shoe store had to be closed to make way for the new retail outlet.

of the Masqueraders, a Bradford College dramatic group, which recently presented two evenings of entertainment in the Laura Knott Gallery at the college. On Dec. 2, the offering was Act III of "Two for the Seesaw," and on Dec. 4, it was "An Evening with Rodgers and Hammerstein."

The Masqueraders, the Bradford College honorary dramatics organization, present several productions each academic year, under the auspices of the college drama department. Members serve as the core from which actors, crew members, and business managers are selected for each major production.

Gail, a recent graduate of Andover High School, is in her sophomore year at Bradford.

Participates In Exercise In Germany

Army Private George L. Ouellette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olivia L. Ouellette, 110 Dean Circle, Andover, recently participated in Exercise REFORGER in Germany.

Pvt. Ouellette is regularly assigned as a mechanic in Company B, 1st Battalion of the 28th Infantry at Ft. Riley, Kan.

The purpose of the annual exercise was to sharpen techniques for receiving, equipping, assembling, and deploying dual-based units. This year the exercise was incorporated in a broader, coordinated series of NATO and national exercises known as the "Autumn Forge 75 Exercise Series." One broad objective of the series was to improve the capability of NATO forces.

The U.S. Air Force Military Airlift Com flew approximately 10,000 U.S. based soldiers and their equipment to Germany to participate in the exercise.

He entered the Army in April 1974 and completed basic training at Ft. Polk, La.

Before entering the Army he was employed by Sears.

CHRISTMAS PARADE COMMITTEE 1975

George P. Thomson, Chairman
Joseph W. Potvin, Co-Chairman

Victorian Evening Honors Hospital, Aid Association

The enthusiasm and spirit of 100 years was evident as a capacity crowd made merry at the Lawrence General Hospital

Aid Association Centennial Ball, Saturday.

A wonderfully Victorian feeling had been created around the soft blue and old gold colors of LGH. The foyer of the Sheraton Rolling Green was bedecked with potted palms, immediately giving one a glimpse of the feeling of the evening. White topped tables were each centered with an epergne filled with hemlock, ivy, and green grapes, festooned with soft blue Victorian ribbons and old gold candles. The walls of the main ballroom were dressed in greens and ribbons done in a Victorian pattern. The bi-leveled bandstand was surrounded by palms, additional greens, and again, the lovely soft-blue of the ribbons.

The Ball paid tribute to Lawrence General Hospital's 100th year as well as the past presidents of the Aid Association. Mrs. Dean K. Webster, founder and first president of the Aid Association was honored, along with Mrs. Walter Whitehill, Mrs. Julius Kay, Mrs. Harry Axelrod, Mrs. Abigail McCoy, Mrs. John B. Harriman, Mrs. John F. McArdle Jr., Mrs. Vincent P. Morton Jr., and Mrs. Robert L.V. French. Student nurses presented each of these ladies, all tireless workers for LGH, with a bouquet of yellow roses. They and their guests were seated in decorated boxed areas festooned with greens and ribbon. All present joined in the applause and recognition due these fine women.

The sumptuous sounds of the Art Mooney orchestra reverberated throughout the ballroom as the 13 piece orchestra began the evening with a concert called "The Big Band Parade." The big band sounds of Glen Miller, Tommy Dorsey, Artie Shaw, Count Basie, Duke Ellington, Guy Lombardo set many feet tapping - and added just a bit more the mellowness of nostalgia to a grand evening. This was the music being played when the Aid Association was in its infancy and LGH in its 75th year. After the show itself, Art Mooney and the Band kept the dance floor filled with people enjoying the sounds of today's music.

Mrs. Thomas Jay Thomas was general chairman of the Ball. Mrs. William Kurth and Mrs. George Redman were responsible for co-ordinating, assembling, and setting up all decorations. They were assisted by Mrs. J.W. deConstant, Mrs. Richard McCoy, Mrs. Ben Waters, Mrs. Irving Rogers Jr., Mrs. Richard Kapelson, Mrs. George Sterns, and Mrs. H. Eaton III. Members of the hospital maintenance department, Russell Anderson, Angelo Aufiero, Chanel Bergeron, Frank Blanchetti, and Al Rozzi provided invaluable assistance.

Enjoying Victorian Evening

A Moment To Relax

Enjoying a moment of relaxation during the Centennial Ball honoring the 100th anniversary of Lawrence General hospital and the past presidents of the aid association Saturday night are, from left, Alton W. Noyes, assistant administrator of the hospital, Mrs. Gwen Smith, Mrs. Dean K. Webster founder and first president of the aid association and Dr. Julius Kay.

Holiday Tea Held

Andoverite Wins Contest

Miss Paige Whitley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Whitley of Virginia Road, Andover, has been chosen as one of 30 finalists in the essay contest sponsored by Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs.

All students in public, private and parochial high schools in Massachusetts were eligible to enter.

Her essay was submitted by Shawsheen Village Women's Club for judging in the 10th District Competition.

The contest on "Women in Transition: Past, Present and Future" was sponsored by the state federation and Congresswoman Margaret Heckler in observance of International Women's Year.

Thirty finalists, one young woman and one young man from each district, will compete in the state contest. The young woman and man who are selected as statewide winners will be afforded an opportunity to travel to another country and visit in the home of a family in which a strong female role model is present.

As one of the two district winners, Miss Whitley will have her essay submitted for judging on the state level. All students selected either a woman in American history or a woman respected in their community, and discussed her contributions to the development of country and community.

The essays had to incorporate an examination of attitudes, laws and customs affecting women's roles in today's society and horizons in the future.

Essays were judged on the basis of historical accuracy, adherence to subject, originality, interest, neatness, spelling and punctuation. The same criteria will govern the state judging.

Trying Some New Equipment

Lisa Desmarais, four, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Desmarais, tries out some of the new playground equipment donated to Recreation Park by the Andona Society. With the youngsters are Gary Ralph, Recreation/Community Schools director, Dania Gammon and Linda Desmarais.

Andona Presents Gifts

The Andona Society recently presented a gift of approximately $3,000 for the purchase of playground equipment to the Andover Recreation - Community Schools Department.

Gary Ralph, director of the Andover Recreation - Community Schools Department, has announced the installation of the equipment at Recreation Park where it will provide a playground area which will service pre-school through elementary age children. The gift consists of six separate units whose attractive, but functional appearance is complemented by the surrounding wooded environment. The pieces are of heavy wood construction designed to excite the imagination of any child. The six pieces are located so that there is easy supervision of a group. The equipment is adjacent to the multi purpose area and the sliding area.

President Of Board

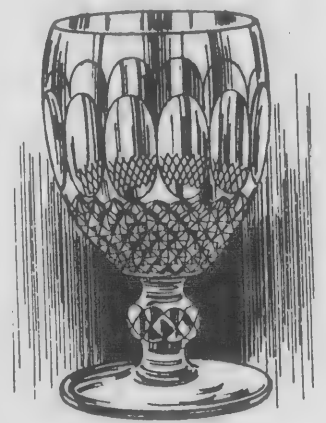

Sandra Levine of 58 Maple Avenue, Andover, was elected president of the Parent Board of Community Cooperative Nursery School at the December business meeting. Sandra's son, Matt, attends the school which was founded in the fall by interested parents and teachers. The members provide educational play experiences for their children while at the same time having a gradual transition from home to school with parents cooperating by assisting once a month in the classroom. Fathers are welcome as assisting parents and Sandra's husband Stephen shares this obligation with her on a regular basis.

Community Cooperative has an enrollment of 24 three and four year olds and parents may choose a two, three or five morning a week program. Facilities are rented from the Unitarian Church on Lowell Street in Andover where a cluster of three rooms flowing into each other comprises the school.

During the early morning open activity time, children are encouraged to choose from available activities and are helped to "do it themselves." Clean-up, group time, snack and outside play complete the morning program.

Other elected officers include Carolyn Bonier Vice President, Janice Neilson Legg Treasurer and Michele Edelsberg Clerk.

Project Help Plans Ball

Project Help will celebrate its Bicentennial Ball, Saturday, the tenth of January at the Sheraton Rolling Green Motor Inn. Beginning with a cocktail hour at seven o'clock followed by dinner at eight, the evening will continue with dancing to the music of the John Charles Orchestra.

Project Help is a local organization providing financial assistance for humanity services to Greater Lawrence residents who are either in-patients at the Danvers State Hospital or ambulatory clients at the Day Treatment Center located on Essex St. in Lawrence. Project Help seeks to help the members of its own community and needs your support to continue this endeavor.

Many rehabilitative programs such as community orientation - trips into the community, cooking classes, coffee hour, hot lunches, and other needed socializing and educational programs are currently happening because of the support you have given over the past several years. Help is needed!

The Project Help Bicentennial Ball is open to all who would like to support this community endeavor and who also would like to enjoy a delightful evening of dining and dancing.

Checks may be made to Project Help, Inc. and mailed to Dance Chairman Mrs. Louis Patricone, 5 Morningside Drive, Andover. Tables may be reserved by request.

Lofty Perch

Workmen reshingling a section of the Andover Baptist Church roof have had a good view of activity in the center of Andover from their lofty perch. In fact, during Saturday's Santa Claus parade, they probably had an overall view of the parade route in between removing the old and making ready for the new shingles.

Utilities To Bill Monthly

Massachusetts Electric Company has notified the Department of Public Utilities that it plans to bill all customers on a monthly rather than bimonthly basis.

Beginning early in the new year, all customers now billed for electric service every two months will be billed once every month.

Massachusetts Electric President William J. Cadigan explained the company's position. "We are painfully aware of the impact inflation and escalating fuel costs have had on electric bills. And, we recognize the difficulties many of our customers have paying for two months of electric service in one bill. We believe our customers will find monthly billing helpful in planning their budgets."

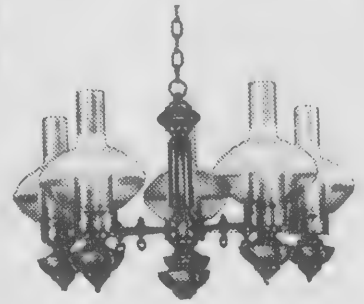

According to Cadigan, the company studied the experiences of more than 70 electric utilities that have changed from bimonthly to monthly billing. "We discovered," he said, "that the vast majority of their customers were highly in favor of the change, for one simple reason - it is much easier to budget on a monthly basis."

Cadigan added that the changeover to monthly bills will mean additional costs to the company for mailing and manpower. "However," he said, "speeding up customer payments should improve the company's cash position and reduce the need for short-term, high-interest borrowing thus substantially offsetting the costs of the new system."

It will take two months to complete the changeover to the new billing system, Cadigan said. However, by the end of February, all Massachusetts Electric customers will receive monthly bills.

46 Trend Is Away From Processed Foods

Consumers are buying 15 to 20 percent less processed foods this year, and there is a trend to more basic and fresh food purchases, according to the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture.

The decline market for frozen convenience desserts was also cited at a recent nutrition conference sponsored by the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Home gardening has had some impact in the increased preference for fresh produce, but consumers are also realizing that it is less expensive to buy fresh vegetables, for example, than fancy frozen varieties.

Some food experts at the conference were confident that the changes in consumers' food buying habits are not just a reflection of the current economy.

Consumers' increased awareness of nutrition is also having some effect on their food purchases.

Poor nutrition still exists, however, and it is not confined to the poor, nor those lacking knowledge about nutrition, said Dr. Johanna Dwyer, director of the nutrition center at New England Medical Center Hospital.

When asked about consumers' queries on the nutritional differences of dark versus white bread, she added, it would be more important to eat an apple a day!

The influence of advertising in shifting consumers' tastes towards soft drinks, candy and sugared cereals was cited by keynote speaker Dr. Jean Mayer, Harvard University nutritionist.

"I am convinced that we would be better fed if there were no advertising of foods at all," he said.

For nutrition education to be effective, he advised nutritionists at the conference, nutrition information must be translated into how to buy foods at a reasonable price.

Other good values in fresh produce are turnip, Des Moines squash, potatoes, eggplant, iceberg lettuce and green peppers.

In fresh fruit, McIntosh and Cortland apples from local orchard holdings continue to be a good buy at prices as low as three pounds for 49 cents. And a record high grapefruit crop, up 14 percent from last season, has resulted in specials at eights for $1.

Also of interest to the smart shopper is that broiler-fryer chickens are plentiful for the first time since March, 1974, with December production predicted at 15 percent more than a year ago. Prices this past week showed broiler-fryers down to 49 cents a pound.

Beef production is also ahead of a year earlier by five to six percent, and this should be reflected in a slightly downward trend in prices. This past week, boneless bottom round roast at $1.29 a pound was a hopeful sign.

Other good values in meat are beef liver, ground beef, corned beef and smoked pork shoulder picnics. In fish, best buys are frozen cod and turbot fillets.

Baked Cranberry Apples

6 Cortland apples
¾ cup whole cranberry sauce
½ teaspoon nutmeg (optional)
6 teaspoons sugar
6 teaspoons butter
1 cup water

Core apples, but not quite through to the bottom end. Peel apples about one third of the way down from top. Place in baking dish.

Combine cranberry sauce with nutmeg if desired. Fill the center of each apple with about 2 tablespoons of cranberry sauce. Sprinkle each apple with 1 teaspoon sugar and dot with 1 teaspoon butter.

Pour 1 cup water into baking dish. Bake at 375 degrees for 45 to 60 minutes or till apples are tender. If apples seem dry, baste frequently with liquid in baking dish.

Makes 6 servings.

Note: serve warm with a little ice cream or whipped cream cheese if desired.

Dinner Suggestion: meat loaf, baked potatoes, mashed butter-nut squash, creamed onions, cabbage and carrot cole slaw, baked cranberry apples, milk, coffee or tea.

Honorary Luncheon Chairman

Joseph B. Doherty, president of Doherty Realty Agency, Inc. and Doherty Insurance Agency, Inc. in Andover has been named an honorary chairman of the Real Estate and Allied Industries Luncheon on Dec. 15 in honor of Dr. Harry Sher, president of Bankers Mutual Trust. The tribute to Sher, who was awarded an Honorary Doctor of Business Administration degree by Upper Iowa University, will benefit the respiratory disease programs of National Jewish Hospital and Research Center at Denver. John M. Peckham, III, real estate columnist and head of Data Realty Companies, Inc. is luncheon chairman.

Doherty is the immediate past president of the National Association of Realtors, and current president of the Professional Training Section of the International Real Estate Federation. A resident of Andover, he spent 18 years as an educator having served as Superintendent of Schools. A graduate of Boston College and Harvard University, Doherty is active in numerous civic and philanthropic activities including Bon Secours Hospital, Andover Red Cross and the Andover Chamber of Commerce.

77. A "just cause" clause already exists, but the teachers are seeking to make it more specific, to avoid the lengthy grievance procedure in the event of a complaint.

The school committee would like to apply the clause to tenured teachers only.

The AEA would also like better definition of what non-teaching duties are, while the school committee says that would be taking away too much in the way of management rights from the principals.

The principals now assign such non-teaching duties as corridor duty to teachers during their free periods.

Holiday "gifting" for stereo and electronic buffs begins at Radio Shack of North Andover. Stop in and browse; it is conveniently located at the junction of Routes 125 and 114.

Electronic kits range from basic designs that youngsters can assemble without becoming frustrated to complicated kits that would challenge the sophisticated adult. Scanners for listening to police and radio calls are in good supply at Radio Shack and they do stock the popular crystals in this area.

television antenna system - at significant savings.

To further serve their customers, Radio Shack of North Andover has a repair department located in the store and services most products that they sell. They are factory authorized to service Sharp, Akai and Realistic and will be happy to service your stereo receiver, tape deck, turntable, black & white TV or your colored portable.

Santa Gets Warm Andover Greeting

THE TOWNSMAN, DECEMBER 11, 1975

Last, but not least in Saturday's parade, was the arrival of the jolly Firefighters, who sponsored Santa's arrival in town, also posted old gent himself, high atop the fire department's snorkel. The their own season's greeting on the truck.

Parade

ones and little ones all over the place, and then Mom was yelling "look who's coming now."

"I don't believe it," I said. There was Big Bird, as big as life. All the children crowded around him, but Big Bird came right over.

"He shook-ed my hand," I said. "Big Bird shook-ed my hand."

"Hi Ernie, Hi Bert," I said, but Big Bird's friends from Sesame Street followed him away.

"Who's that?" Dad asked as another float came by. "That's Humpty Dumpty," I said, and much as I wanted to tell them about all the king's horses and all the king's men, my eyes started to close. It was past nap time, after all.

But then Shoemaker Jr. Drum and Bugle Corps stopped right in front. They weren't exactly playing Rockabye Baby, and I "woked" up again.

"Where's Ernie and Bert?" I asked right away.

"Is it a fire?" I said, when Engine 7 came down the street with its sirens so loud I wanted to cover my ears. "Where'd Ernie and Bert go?" I said louder. "I can't see them."

Then someone said, "Here he comes, here he comes," and there were more sirens and the biggest fire truck I've ever seen, behind a big banner about the Andover Firefighters.

And there, clear up on the back of that fire truck with a white bucket, waving his hand, was Santa Claus himself.

"I want you to bring me toys," I yelled, "yellow ones."

But there were dozens of children following Santa off down the street and I don't know if he heard me when I said "I'm a good boy."

Mom says I'll have to wait till Christmas to find out.

Ted Sullivan delighted the crowds with his prowess on a rather unusual bicycle.

Susan, 4, and Linda, 9, view the parade from the fender of a parked car, while Mrs. Robert Hinckly of Ballardvale stands close by.

Del Dechchio, for 40 years, a "balloon man," dispenses his wares at curbside.

Verrette Is Named MVP

Glenn Verrette, Andover's All-Scholastic end, was the recipient of the Eugene V. Lovely Award as the most valuable player on this year's Golden Warrior state championship football team.

Verrette, a tri-captain on this year's team, who has done everything for the Warriors during his impressive career at Andover High, received the award Wednesday night at a special Awards Assembly attended by the students, families and friends of Warrior football at West

Junior High school.

Fellow tri-captain and "battery-mate" Bill Alexander, was awarded the Gus Connolly award, emblematic of attitude, sportsmanship and courage.

Tom Henderson, who bolstered the Warrior defense during the year received the Charles Mourikas award, given to the lineman who has demonstrated ability above and beyond during his gridiron career.

Tri-captain John Drivas was the recipient of the Super Bowl game ball.

Announced as tri-captains for the 1976 Golden Warriors were Gerry Stabile, Bill Walsh and Mitch Rousseau.

The outstanding opponent award, selected by the team, was presented to J. Howlett of Lawrence Central Catholic High school.

Recipients of game balls for their efforts in particular games during the regular season were: Mark Farnham, Pentucket; John Fabiani, Austin Prep; Dave Mirisola, Methuen; John Drivas, Tewksbury; Bob Hoelzel, Wilmington; Dan Billings, Chelmsford; Jim Deyermund, Lawrence; Gerry Stabile, Billerica; Mitch Rousseau, Dracut and Ken Lafleur, Lawrence Central Catholic.

Washburn was appointed by a joint committee of selectmen and schoolmen in the fall of 1974 to fill Wragg's seat until the election, there was a stipulation that he not run in that election.

However, that restriction was omitted from the McIntyre appointment.

On Honor Roll

On the honor roll for the first quarter at Austin Preparatory School, Reading, from Andover are: Dennis Buck, freshman, first honors; Thomas Lawler, junior; William Bartley, Brian McGann, Timothy Tiernan, sophomores and Timothy Cronin, freshman, second honors.

Seek Housing Grant

Application for federal funds totalling $92,000 to assist in elderly housing, has been authorized by the selectmen.

The application will be to Housing and Urban Development and, if approved, will go towards assisting senior citizens with improvements to single-family homes.

Assistant Town Manager Sheldon S. Cohen informed the selectmen Monday night that two public hearings must be held on the proposal and a final plan submitted to the Merrimack Valley Planning Commission before the federal grants are authorized.

Under the program, grants and loans at low interest rates, will be provided to senior citizens who qualify. The money will be used for improvements to single family homes, thus eliminating the need to sell private residence due to increased taxes and costs.

Senior Planner Catherine Barry of the MVPC informed the selectmen that any money received by the town should not jeopardize federal revenue sharing funds, which was of particular concern to Selectman Alan F. French.

Bike Auction Scheduled

The annual bicycle auction held by the Andover Police Department will be held Saturday, Dec. 20 at 10 a.m. at the police station.

As of this week there were about 20 bikes available to be auctioned by Ralph Sharpe. They have been recovered over a period of time and unclaimed.

board, and we have accomplished some things, particularly in the area of holding the line on the tax rate and establishing some fiscal policies.

"As in all ventures, I am not satisfied that I accomplished all I had hoped during my term but it has been a most rewarding experience, probably the most satisfying that I can remember," Sullivan said.

David R. Ahouse, elected to a one-year term last March, said this week he "intends to" run for re-election, but said an official announcement won't be forthcoming until after Christmas.

He was elected to serve the one year remaining on John Wragg's term.

Robert B. McIntyre, appointed in October to fill the seat vacated when John Lyons resigned in June, says he hasn't yet made a decision about running again.
